£220,000,000 For War Preparations

ENORMOUS ITALIAN ARMAMENT BUDGET

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"

ROME, Oct. 27 (UP).—It has been officially announced that the Italian Government is spending 17,476,000,000 lire (about £220,000,000) for the further development of all armed forces.

Allotments to the forces over the past 17 years have totalled 133,281,000,000 lire or about £1,687,000,000.

U.S. National Debt Sets

New Record

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP).—Treasury statistics show that the national debt exceeds 41 billion dollars and reached an all time high last Wednesday when it equaled approximately $315,000,000,000.

Since the start of the current fiscal year, July 1, the debt has been increased by $553,000,000. The legal limit of the debt is a maximum of 43 billion dollars which may be reached this year and Congress, at its next session, will have to raise the statutory limit.

The inclusion of the Government's contingent liabilities would result in an aggregate federal debt of approximately $46,356,000,000.

Pope's Attack On Nazism

Interpretation Of Encyclical

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 27 (UP).—Pope Pius XI encyclical is interpreted as a strong attack on totalitarianism.

"It is reliably said that the address which Pope XI finished just before his death, but never published, is incorporated in the encyclical."

The fact that there are good relations between Italy and the Holy See is especially mentioned and is interpreted as removing the sting from the attack on totalitarianism as far as Italy is concerned, leaving it directed mainly at Germany and Russia.

This is further substantiated by the Pope's reference to the resurrection of Poland, which is tantamount to a disapproval of the Russo-German partition.

A "REUTER" MESSAGE FROM WASHINGTON STATES THAT THE UNITED STATES SENATE YESTERDAY REPEALED THE ARMS EMBARGO FROM THE NEUTRALITY BILL, LEAVING THE WAY OPEN FOR APPROVAL OF THE ADMINISTRATION'S MEASURE WHICH INCLUDES THE CASH-AND-CARRY SYSTEM.

Earlier in the long and vitriolic debate, Senator Nye's proposed alternative neutrality measure which included a mandatory arms embargo, was defeated by 67 votes to 22.

STORMY DEBATE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The galleries at the Senate were crowded to-night for the closing stages of the debate on the Neutrality Bill.

It was one of the most important and stormy debates in history.

An amendment proposed by Senator Clark, restoring the embargo, has to be taken before the final passage of the whole Bill through the Senate which the Administration leaders in the Senate expect late to-night.

The House of Representatives expects to begin the debate on the Bill on Tuesday.

After joint conferences of the Senate and the House, the Bill will then reach its final form by next Friday.

Amendments Rejected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The Senate rejected by 65 votes to 26 the amendments to the Neutrality Bill banning armed merchantmen and submarines of belligerents from United States ports.

Armed Merchant Ships

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP).—By a vote of 65 to 26 the Senate to-day rejected Senator Champ Clark's proposal to ban belligerent armed merchant ships from United States ports and territorial waters except in emergency.

"A 5-inch gun in the stern does not constitute a war vessel," said Senator Pittman, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.
Senator Tom Connally said there is "no danger as long as the ships are armed for defensive purposes only."
Senator McCarran supported Senator Clark, saying: "Such ships are as much part of the British Navy as armed cruisers," but he added that he realized that he was talking against certain defeat.

Bonds For Foreign Crows

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The Senate approved the amendment by Senator Thomas requiring the posting of bonds to ensure that the crews of foreign ships landed in the United States would not remain here contrary to the Immigration Laws.

Senator Thomas said that since the war started, 1,653 foreign seamen had deserted from their ships in United States ports.

Decisive Vote

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"

WASHINGTON, Oct. (UP).—By a vote of 67 to 22 the United States Senate to-day rejected Senator Gerald Nye's substitute neutrality bill with a mandatory embargo on the crews of arms and munitions to belligerent Powers.

This vote is considered to be a decisive indication of general sentiment in the neutrality issue.

The Senate also adopted an amendment proposed by Senator Thomas requiring belligerent ships entering United States ports to furnish a bond against alien seamen remaining beyond the time fixed by the Immigration Law.

By 60 to 43 the Senate refused Senator Wheeler's motion for reconsideration of the vote whereby Senator Champ Clark's earlier proposal to give Congress representation on the National Munitions Board.

Senator Wheeler argued that such a measure would enable Congress to keep in touch with the President's foreign policy.

ASSASSINATION BY GESTAPO

University Professor
Killed In Prison

PARIS, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Professor Benedikt Schmittmann, of Cologne University, was assassinated in a Gestapo prison, according to a "Havas" despatch from the frontier.

Professor Schmittmann was an active leader in the Federal Movement in Germany, believing that as long as Prussia dominated Germany neither liberty in Germany nor peace in Europe would be assured.

FLOODS AT THE FRONT

Action Confined To Air Reconnaissance

PARIS, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The weather at the front is still abominable.

Floods are very severe. The Rhine yesterday rose a further two feet. Operations in the flooded areas are almost at a complete standstill.

Despite the weather, Allied planes made five reconnaissance flights over the immediate German lines and 180 miles into Germany.

German planes tried to reconnoitre in the Lauter region, but only penetrated a mile or two.

Artillery Active

PARIS, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—A war communiqué to-night reports increased activity on the part of units in contact and of the artillery on both sides.

No Offensive

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The tightening of German censorship is merely application of measures long prepared and is not connected with the imminence of a great offensive, according to the Berlin correspondent of the "Dagbladet."

Lord Gort Visits The Front

FROM REUTERS CORRESPONDENT WITH THE B.E.F., Oct. 27.—Lord Gort, the British Commander-in-Chief, to-day visited the front and inspected a battalion of the famous Scottish Regiment.

Lord Gort spent considerable time in conference with General Sir John Dill.

While the conference was in progress in a first floor room, men of the Royal Engineers were busy below converting the cellar into elaborate sand-bagged emergency offices for use in the event of an air attack.

After the inspection, Lord Gort visited the front line trenches where he thoroughly scrutinized preparations. In fact the G-I-C even noticed one sand-bag which was placed the wrong way round, with the seam facing outwards.

Lord Gort immediately drew attention to this.

110 Divisions Mass

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—According to the figures of German troop concentrations along the Swiss and Dutch frontiers given by Rome yesterday, there are 18 divisions on the Dutch frontier, and 12 on the Swiss frontier from Basel to Lake Constance.

Between 75 and 80 divisions are now massed on the Western Front, including 31 in the Flanders sector.

TAXATION LEAGUE

Telegraph Readers Want
Taxes On Luxuries

THE FINAL analysis of "If I Were Treasurer" letters from readers of the "Telegraph" shows an overwhelming aversion to Income Tax.

Only two readers of all those who submitted suggestions voted in favour of the system.

This is a contradiction to a previous questionnaire by the "Telegraph" given in 1937 when 75 per cent of the total voted in favour of Income Tax.

To-day's analysis of answers received last night and early this morning shows that the majority of Hongkong readers want Government to raise extra revenue from taxation on wine, spirits, beer, horse racing, club and other amusements and tobacco and cigarettes, all of which might be termed luxuries.

An interesting suggestion by one reader is that Government should institute a heavy tax on married women who work whilst their husbands are in good positions.

Another reader suggests that the present receipt stamp duty of 10 cents should be altered to 10 cents for every $1,000. He believes that revenue in the direction would increase ten fold on such a tax.

Radical Suggestion

C.H.U. makes radical suggestions for curtailing Government expenditure. He would like to see all Civil Service pensions reduced by half, and Civil servants work in the Colony for at least 30 years before they could qualify for a pension. Their home leave periods should also be reduced.

The same reader suggests a reduction in the number of school-teachers in the Colony.

A.F.N. believes that the time has come for Government to carry out a retrenchment policy in the Civil Service. He believes that there are many directions in which Government could economise.

A suggestion for a graduated poll tax was made by a reader who did not sign his name.

The healthy voting in favour of taxation on luxuries is a somewhat significant trend, indicating that people in this Colony are quite willing to make sacrifices in this direction in times of emergency. One or two readers have suggested that the Colony is living "too high."

A third of the suggestions were in favour of a taxation on bachelors and only one qualified this proposal by suggesting that the tax should be on bachelors over 25 years of age.

STANDARD PRICES FOR FOODSTUFFS

New Retail Prices Announced In "Government Gazette"

STANDARD retail prices for butter, tinned condensed, evaporated and powdered milk, tinned corned beef, tinned pork and beans, tinned sardines, tinned salmon, margarine and vegetable lard, and rolled oats and oatmeal are announced by the Food Controller, the Hon. Mr. W. J. Carrie, in the "Government Gazette" to-day.

It is believed that the modus operandi in connection with this list of standard prices is that if the imported prices rise further (or fall) importers, retailers, or members of the public may make representations for a revision.

The standard prices listed in today's "Gazette" are operative forthwith and will remain in force until further notice.

The attention of drug stores should be particularly directed to those items which concern them, such as powdered milk, for they, like the grocers, may not sell above the official standard prices.

The full list of the new standard prices is as follows:

CANBERRA, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Within a month of the outbreak of war, Australia had finished negotiations for the purchase by Britain of £100,000,000 worth of her products, mostly foodstuffs.

This was stated to-day by the Federal Minister of Commerce, Senator McLeay.

Britain has agreed to provide sufficient ships to transport the goods from Australia.

60 BODIES RECOVERED FROM U-BOAT WRECK

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Several bodies (one report mentions 60) have been recovered from the wrecked German submarine on the Goodwin Sands. They have been landed at Dover.

Deal Fishermen report that a great part of the conning-tower is sticking out of the water.

While there is no official explanation of the wrecking of the submarine, gun-fire was heard at Deal two days ago, and it is thought that the submarine might have been attacked.

No action was seen, however, either from the thick sea mist or from the thick fog.

A salvage vessel and divers are now at work on the U-boat.

Epic Story of Gallantry of British Sailors

WARSHIP WENT DOWN IN TWENTY MINUTES

H. M. S. COURAGEOUS (22,000 tons), one of Britain's seven aircraft carriers, sank within 20 minutes of being attacked by a U-boat.

Order to abandon ship was given only five minutes after she was hit.

There was swift revenge. An accompanying destroyer saw the U-boat and she is believed to have been sunk.

A message from Washington says the U.S. cargo vessel Collingsworth (5,000 tons) picked up 53 survivors. They were later transferred to other ships.

Captain Makeig-Jones, who was in command, is not among the men so far landed. One officer said the last he saw of him was when he was standing on the bridge issuing the abandon ship order.

TWO EXPLOSIONS

An epic story of the gallantry of the crew was disclosed when survivors were landed. One man said:

"I was having my supper when suddenly I heard two violent explosions which seemed to lift the ship. All lights went out as the ship started to list, and crockery fell over. I got out of the wardroom and made my way to the upper deck, and finally to the seaplane platform on top of the quarter-deck.

"There were a lot of people waiting there. They did not realise that the ship would sink quite so fast. When this was realised they were told to get into the water. A lot went to Carley floats and others dropped boats out.

"I just slipped off and jumped into the water. I was swimming for about 40 minutes, and swam to a destroyer. Everybody behaved with great calm, and men in the water around me were cracking jokes.

"Most people did whatever jobs they had to do before they left the ship. There was no disorder and no panic."

Another man stated that boats on

Hand of 13 Spades

In a bridge game at the Warwickshire Croquet Club, Leamington, recently, Mrs. D. Slaney was dealt the complete suit of spades. She bid a slam and made it without the cards going on the table.

Although the odds against being dealt a complete suit have been estimated at 158,000,000 to 1, it has been reported twice recently.

the port side could not be used because the vessel heeled over so quickly. Her bows submerged and her stern cocked up into the air before she sank.

Lieutenant H. S. Barber, one of the officers, said in an interview:

"It was perhaps a lucky hit as we were steaming at normal speed and taking the normal precautions.

"There were two distinct bangs, and then nothing else was heard from the upper deck. The ship immediately began to list and within four or five minutes the order to abandon ship was given.

"I believe there were a few minor explosions as the actually foundered within about 20 minutes, I should say, after being hit.

"I was in the water for an hour and a quarter, and was picked up by a boat from a British merchant ship. The men were very cheerful in the water, singing 'Daisy, Daisy' and other songs. I believe that most of them in my area were safe."

There were joyful scenes at Plymouth last night when survivors were landed. Many women were in tears as they waited for news. Lists were posted as soon as possible.

Courageous was sunk at about eight o'clock. There was a moderate sea.

BUILT IN 1917

One of the survivors among the officers is Commander E. M. C. Abel Smith, who was an Equerry to the King.

He was called from his duties at Buckingham Palace to rejoin the Navy when the reserve was called up. One of his first duties aboard the aircraft carrier was to receive the King aboard Courageous in Weymouth Bay on the occasion of the inspection of the Reserve Fleet last August.

Commander Abel Smith was one of those chosen to accompany the King and Queen on their tour of Canada and the United States. He is distantly related to the Queen.

Courageous was completed as a cruiser in January 1917 at a cost of £2,000,000.

She was laid down in 1915 as part of the "emergency programme" to provide a powerful high-speed cruiser of 30 knots.

She was converted into an aircraft carrier at Devonport Dockyard between 1924 and 1928, and was again refitted in 1936.

The conversion cost £2,025,800.

Mother who Grieved for Son Discovers Her Error

WHEN a boy cyclist was badly injured in a Leicester street accident recently, a man who picked him up—Mr. A. Howel—identified him as his son.

He went in the ambulance with him to hospital, where the boy died soon afterwards.

Mr. Howel went home and broke the news to his wife.

A few minutes later he was told the dead boy was not his son, but Geoffrey Livermore, aged seven, of Dynaston-road, Leicester.

Mr. Howel was working in a nearby garage when the lad came into collision with a Corporation bus.

"I was certain it was my boy," he said, "because he was riding a new bicycle—my boy has just had one—and was wearing a wrist-watch like my boy has."

Woman Tells of Love of Actor 'HE WOULD REACH FOR THE MOON'

COPENHAGEN.

TALL, fair-haired Greta Galsbo, the Danish woman whom Douglas Warth, twenty-six-year-old graduate of Oxford University, came to Copenhagen to see, and then stabbed himself because his love was not returned, said: "Douglas would have reached for the moon for me."

A.R.P. IN SCOTLAND

EDINBURGH SAFEGUARD

A.R.P. Advice To City's Citizens

"It is possible that you may be included in the two per 60,000 of the population who, experts calculate, may be injured in a successful raid, but it is unlikely."

Baillie Falconer, chairman of the Edinburgh A.R.P. Executive Committee, made this statement when urging the public to familiarise themselves with the shelters which lay in their daily path, when he spoke at a meeting of the Committee in the City Chambers recently.

The shelter policy is being vigorously pursued by the Committee, and in order to lessen the demand for sandbags, brick bailing is being carried out at common entries in substitution for sand-bagging.

Householders in possession of Anderson shelters who have not erected them and who wish to have them removed are invited to communicate in writing with the City Engineer. Requests for shelters are continually being made to the Home Office, but owing to the pressure of defence requirements the Corporation does not get any prior intimation as to when shelters may arrive, and consequently the Corporation is unable to let those who desire shelters know when they are likely to be available.

STONE HOUSES SAFE

Officials took the opportunity to emphasise that public shelters are designed and located solely for the accommodation of those people who are caught on the street during a raid. Persons who are already housed at the time of a raid are urged to remain there in their own interests, and recourse should only be had to a public shelter when they have no opportunity of regaining their own homes.

The dangers of overcrowding are well known, and Sir John Anderson has from the outset stressed the policy of dispersal. Edinburgh's houses are spread over an area of 54 square miles, and this is regarded as the best dispersion possible. Stone houses afford almost complete protection against blast and splinters.

"ACT QUICKLY"

Emphasising the need for being prepared to act quickly in an emergency, Baillie Falconer, chairman of the Edinburgh A.R.P. Executive Committee, said in an interview recently: "You cannot share a respirator, but you may create a very unpleasant situation for others who would willingly share their own with you if they could. Trust your respirator like your hat. Take it with you always and keep it clean. Inform yourselves where the shelters lie in your daily path, and then forget the war. It is possible that you may be included in the two per 60,000 of the population who, experts calculate, may be injured in a successful raid, but it is unlikely."

"Day by day you have been omitted from the list of casualties on the street, the dangers of which necessity has taught you to recognise and forget. We have taught ourselves to forget the dangers of daily life when we have taken proper precautions. How soon shall we learn to resume into our daily routine the additional precautions of war and to cast off the uneasy apprehension of danger which at present reduces our effectiveness for our daily occupa-

Doctors operated on him and stitched up a wound from a breadknife that had penetrated to the left lung.

Detective Inspector Mikkelsen said: "Police officers were called to Greta Galsbo's flat early yesterday morning. They found the door of the flat had been broken down and that Greta Galsbo was with neighbours in a flat below."

"The policemen took Warth back to the police station to question him. On the way he pulled a large breadknife from his sleeve and stabbed himself."

BEST TO PART

Greta Galsbo, aged thirty-three, attractive, said:

"Three weeks ago I went to England and saw him. He had a job in a store at Ipswich."

"It was then that I made up my mind that our temperaments were so different that it would be best for us to part. I could not bear to tell him then, but as soon as I returned to Copenhagen, I wrote him a gentle letter, saying it was the end. I did it because I thought it would stop him writing."

"On Sunday I went out with my fiance and returned about midnight. A few minutes later there was a ring at my bell."

"I called out, and asked who was ringing, and I knew by the voice it was Warth."

"I told him I could not let him in. I ran down to the next flat, and neighbours phoned for the police."

"I have not written to him or sent flowers to the hospital. I just want to forget all about him."

HOSPITAL BEDS

The Committee discussed arrangements for managing the various casualty and base hospitals which the Corporation will have to look after on behalf of the Government.

It appears that some 4,000 to 5,000 beds will fall to be administered by the Corporation, an undertaking of considerable magnitude. Action is to be taken to have a definite plan for future administration, and this is being adjusted with the Department of Health.

The question of the protection of the various posts at which A.R.P. personnel are on duty is also being furthered.

Councillor Margaret Geddes intimated that she had had offers of service from ladies' work parties for the various hospitals, provided arrangements could be made to get supplies of materials.

The transport officer reported on the progress being made in registering motor cars, which have been put at the disposal of the Civil Defence Services for use by any official driver instructed to use the vehicle. It is hoped that many motorists who would normally lay up their cars for the winter period may see their way to make their cars available for this purpose.

From a strategic viewpoint, however, no important development has yet occurred.

Russian Gold For Holland

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The "Telegraph" states that the Russian gold sent to Holland earlier in October will pay for maritime purchases.

A crane, a sea-going tug and two smaller tugs will shortly leave for Murmansk under the Dutch flag.

The balance due are two steamers which are under construction at Amsterdam.

The remainder will almost entirely be devoted to similar purchases.

ROOSEVELT REVIEW

Covers Many Points In Press Talk

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP).—President Roosevelt, at a press conference to-day, announced that he was reviving negotiations on the Great Lakes Treaty and was reorganizing an international joint commission so that the draft could be removed from the shelves of the State Department and dusted off.

Turning to other subjects, the President said that so far he had not received sufficient information regarding the City of Flint to enable him to comment. Replying to a query, as to why Ambassador Steinhardt had difficulty in obtaining factual information, the President reminded the questioner that Murmansk is a remote port.

Denies Report

He expressed disappointment over the lack of success of the Foreign Bondholders' Council in obtaining satisfactory arrangements with Latin American Governments on bonded debts for private citizens.

He denied that he had discussed the sale of raw materials to Belgium with Van Zeeland.

He said that he would not begin work on the budget for further expansion of the Navy until January 1 at the earliest; however, he said that the Navy had already begun work on financial problems.

He said that Government and industrialists alike are anxious that there shall be no runaway prices as a result of the war.

He again declared that questions regarding third term possibilities were not news.

I. R. A. Leader Ends Career

Penal Servitude For 20 Years

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Sentence of 20 years penal servitude was imposed at the Liverpool Assizes on Vincent Crompton, 36, seaman, described as a leader in the I.R.A. explosives conspiracy.

The Police disclosed that Crompton was not an Irishman, having been born at Manchester and had served in the United States and British armies, and also in the International Brigades in Spain.

Another accused, Christopher Kenneally, a young labourer who was sent to the Borstal Institution for three years, told the judge that had it been known what sort of record Crompton possessed, he would not have been allowed to participate in I.R.A. activities.

Two other men were each sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

Sentence on one of the young women also found guilty of conspiracy was postponed.

U.S. CELEBRATES NAVY DAY

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP).—The United States commemorated the Navy's 144th birthday. Warlike precautions closed all the ships of the Battle Fleet, and the navy yards and industrial stations, which are usually open to the public's inspection on Navy Day.

President Roosevelt sent a letter to the Acting Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Edison, saying: "The principal way to preserve peace lies in our ability to defend our sea frontiers. The Navy has never failed our country."

Holland-Germany Telephones Silent

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Telephonic communication between Holland and Berlin is still subject to considerable delay.

Only a few calls are being put through.

No reason is given, but it is believed here that the German military authorities are monopolising the lines.

Big Wage Increase For Coal-Miners

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Delegates representing all the coal fields in the country have decided to accept the coal-owners' offer of an addition of wages during the war estimated to cost £5,000,000 yearly.

N.Z. Minister In London

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Mr. Peter Fraser, acting Prime Minister of New Zealand, has arrived in England to participate in the Empire Conference of Cabinet Ministers.

RACE AGAINST TIME TO START GRIPPS SHOW

A RACE against time to open the new Cabaret show at the Gripps has been won by Dave Harvey and the Dyer Sisters, who are scheduled to make their first appearance in the Colony at the Hongkong Hotel's famous first floor rendezvous to-night.

Owing to war conditions Harvey and the two English girls experienced considerable difficulty in obtaining passages to Hongkong and for a time it was thought that they would not be able to arrive here in time for to-night's debut.

In addition to meeting the new artists, Gripps patrons will say farewell to the Ormonde Sisters, the versatile English girls who have been entertaining since the commencement of the 1939-40 season.

Nick Korin and his band, with all the latest swing numbers, will provide the music.

A gala extension to 2 a.m. is announced by the Manager of the Hongkong Hotel, who suggest, in view of heavy bookings this season, that patrons reserve their tables as early as possible.

King Leopold Tells America

Historic Broadcast

BRUSSELS, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—King Leopold devoted most of his broadcast to the United States to-day to a statement on the position of neutral countries.

"If we are attacked, we shall defend ourselves with the same conviction and ten times more strongly than in 1914."

"Twenty-five years ago, the Belgian Army, under my father King Albert, checked a cruel invasion."

"Once again a single-minded nation would support the Army but can not believe our belligerents will fail to respect our neutrality and we place our trust in their promises."

Another Veiled Threat

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The reference to Belgium's neutrality in King Leopold's broadcast to the United States can be taken in conjunction with the statement in the Berlin paper, "Nachtausgabe," which said: "Germany will have to consider whether the attitude of Belgium can be regarded as neutral."

The funeral will pass the Monument at 5.15 p.m. to-day for the Colonial Cemetery.

Britain's Food Supply

Position Much Better Says Minister

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"
LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The food supply position is much better, says the Food Minister, Mr. W. S. Morrison, and there is no reason why Britain should anticipate undue restrictions as long as the position is maintained.

Imported bacon, of which there has been a shortage from Denmark owing to shipping risks, is now arriving more regularly.

More Margarine

The production of margarine has increased since the war, tea supplies continue to be ample and it is no longer intended to introduce a standard tea at a fixed price.

There were nine months' supply of tea in London when the war started, but the supplies were moved out owing to bombing risks.

This caused a dislocation which has now been overcome.

Southern Rhodesia And Conscription

SALISBURY, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The Premier of Southern Rhodesia today said powers to enforce conscription would be asked for but would not be put into force yet, as voluntary enlistment was going well.

It is announced that 700 officers and men have been equipped and would be sent beyond the borders of Southern Rhodesia in five weeks.

Newfoundland's Spirit

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The fine spirit of Newfoundland is evidenced by the fact that three times as many volunteers as required attended the recruiting office, following an appeal for 625 men for a naval unit.

BRITISH TRADE RECOVERY

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Recovery of British trade from the dislocation at the beginning of the war is shown by the figures issued in London to-day.

Last month the imports were down 33 per cent, and exports down 42 per cent.

This was mainly because vessels had been commandeered to transfer the Expeditionary Force to France, and also because of the convoy system and difficulties of Scandinavian trade.

This month, however, shipments have been steadily better in the past few days. The system of export licences is working more smoothly.

Cordell Hull Baffled By Soviets

No Information About Seized Ship

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Mr. Cordell Hull, the U.S. Secretary of State, told a Press Conference to-day that he was completely baffled in his attempts to obtain adequate information from the Soviet Government regarding the City of Flint.

Mr. Hull said the U.S. Ambassador in Moscow was unable to contact the crew of the ship.

State Department officials criticise the Soviets for giving information through a news agency before telling the United States Government.

Ship's Whereabouts Mystery

Mr. Hull added that he still did not know whether the City of Flint was still at Murmansk, nor had he received any other details.

He said the U.S. Government would be interested in attending prize-court hearings if the question of ownership arose.

German Report

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The official German wireless, quoting a message from Moscow, stated that the City of Flint has left Murmansk, manned by a German prize crew.

The radio added that this was in accordance with the Hague Convention.

Leaves For Reich Port

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"
BERLIN, Oct. 27 (UP).—Authoritative quarters here to-day stated that the captured American freighter City of Flint is en route to a German port, the name of which is being kept secret.

They said the vessel's American crew are not being held but are free to leave at any time, and that they possibly disembarked at Tromsø.

U.S. Crew Still Aboard?

MOSCOW, Oct. 27 (UP).—The United States Embassy here has received information that the American crew are still aboard the City of Flint, the whereabouts of which is now unknown.

Completely Puzzled

SPECIAL TO THE "TELEGRAPH"
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP).—Secretary of State Cordell Hull to-day asserted that he is completely puzzled by the "inability of responsible American officials in Russia to obtain official information regarding the City of Flint."

Other State Department officials also indicated that there is growing irritation at the lack of official word.

The United States Ambassador in Moscow has been making efforts three days to obtain interviews with Soviet Foreign Office officials. He has at last succeeded in seeing the Vice-Commissar for Foreign Affairs, and is making efforts to arrange means of travel to enable the United States Embassy Secretary Mr. Charles E. Bohlen to go to Murmansk to investigate.

State Department officials are most reticent regarding any future procedure. They said it revolves immediately around the whereabouts of the captured ship's American crew.

Officials are also silent regarding the possibility of Prize Court proceedings being taken, but it is believed that unless the vessel is forfeited, the Government is not likely to become party in a controversy wherein the shipowners and Germany are the sole litigants.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition (or disease) to which many names are given but few really understood. It is simply weakness—a break down as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (they are almost numberless), its symptoms are such the senses the more prominent being sleeplessness, cessation of procreative or masculine, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour, vitality and energy to drive off these morbid feelings, and at night succeed the day the may be more certainly secured by a course of TRADE MARK FRIENDLY THERAPION.

THERAPION NO. 3
than by anything known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions will the shattered health be restored THE EXPIRING CAMP OF LIFE WILL LIGHT UP AGAIN. This preparation is suitable for all ages, constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and is difficult to imagine a disease or derangement whose main feature is weakness, that will not be speedily and permanently overcome by this recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it. For the wife who succumbs to humors, let her take two or three doses after the return of her menses.

Rally of Christendom

WHEN the Nazi Government utters its oft-repeated complaint of "encirclement," its reflections are on itself, for the policies and methods which it pursues might be specially contrived to arouse resentment and create enemies.

What can those who so indus-triously sow the dragon's teeth expect but a harvest of armed men?

It was not enough for these Nazis that they should break the peace, threaten security and freedom, and so alarm the instinct of self-preservation in every land within their reach and jealous of independence.

They must also flout and affront the religious sense of the Christian world by the display of what the organisation of devout English Roman Catholics describes as "the bitterest anti-Christian hatred," expressed in a "set determination to exterminate Christianity from the minds of the young."

Those are the words of a declaration just issued by Lord
Fitzalan of Derwent and Lord Denbigh on behalf of the Council of the Catholic Union of Great Britain.

They will find an echo in every heart, whether Catholic or Protestant, that is sustained and cherished by the Christian faith; and not less, it may be believed, in not a few millions of German hearts as well.

Disavowing any hatred of the German people, those for whom Lord Fitzalan speaks feel that "the policy of their rulers in pursuing rapacious aims by violence and mendacity must be resisted to the end by all who believe in the undying implications of the laws of God."

It is only natural, too, and it is not less timely, that the Council of such a representative body as the Catholic Union of Great Britain should protest their deepest sympathy for another devoutly Roman Catholic nation—"the people of Christian Poland."

The declaration gives one more convincing assurance of the unity of the British people of every creed, as well as of every class.

The Man Who Spoke In Danzig

by
G. WARD PRICE

In The London "Daily Mail"

OF all the Nazi hierarchy Herr von Ribbentrop is one of the most unpopular figures in Britain. "Am I regarded as Public Enemy No. 1?" he asked me last spring.
I said that I thought some of his colleagues ranked before him in this respect, but that he was certainly looked on as a sort of political Lucifer—one who had seen the light and fallen from it, since his knowledge of English and the British people should have enabled him to understand our viewpoint better.

I have never felt that Ribbentrop deserved the intense odium in which he is held in Britain. It is probably attributable to the fact that he has been more in the news than some of his colleagues.

He does not share the responsibility for the excesses of the German Government against the Jews, nor has he ever sent anyone to a concentration camp. As a former member of Pastor Niemöller's congregation at Dahlem he can hardly have approved the persecution to which the Protestant clergy has been subjected.

To me his present position seems to call for pity as much as blame.
Von Ribbentrop is a man who set out to make a political career. Like many who have done the same, he succeeded. He prophesied smooth things. For a time he seemed to be right. Then, suddenly, the whole basis of his policy collapsed beneath him. He can now be hardly more than a crestfallen subordinate of the Leader he misled.

When Hitler decided at the beginning of last year, to get rid of Baron von Neurath and put foreign affairs in the hands of someone wholly devoted to himself, and free from the

MY FAMILY EVACUATED

Says Man in Letter
From Scotland

THE outbreak of war saw the hurried evacuation of my wife and children to the country.
And so at short notice I am left to look after the house and myself. I do not mind. My greatest anxiety was for the children, and as the youngest is a baby it was essential that my wife should go with them.

How am I to manage? The first trouble was the housekeeping arrangements. It is essential that I stay at home, not only for reasons of economy but also to keep the house in as good a state as possible. I can cope with a little, sufficient at least, for the needs of an ordinary man. The house I can look after at my leisure, and I shall engage a charwoman to come twice a week to do my extra labour such as washing and cleaning.

But my problem was solved to some extent by the meeting of a friend who is in exactly the same position as myself. The suggestion came simultaneously almost from both of us, for it was in both our minds. Why not dig together?

It was easily arranged, to go to sleep at his house during one week, and he is to come to mine the following. We shall have breakfast and supper together, and throughout the day we shall each fend for himself.
Thus companionship, economy and the necessity of keeping both houses open will be served.

I shall see the family from time to time and occasionally my wife will come in from the country to see that all is right. We have agreed not to try to phone one another in the event of an air raid, but to send postcards immediately to say that all is well. My wife understands that I have my duty to do as an air warden and pressure of business may mean that I am not at home. All things considered, the postcard message seems best.

I shall miss my family and they
me. But I have my job to attend to, made even more pressing by the outbreak of war. As far as I am concerned, my A.R.P. duties will take up most of my leisure time.

I am also hoping that male parents situated such as I may be able to form some sort of club for social and recreational purposes. It will be good for the womenfolk and the children to know that fathers are not too lonely without them. It may be that we of the home front will regain some of the comradeship and communal spirit which so characterised the trenches for us during the Great War.

It is at least a great relief to know that the children are out of the way of the worst of it. From their letters I know that they have discovered new interests, and are waiting for the time when daddy can come to tell him all about it.

GRIN AND BEAR IT By Lichty

"All the time he was calling on her he just thought he was selling her some insurance!"

MEIN KAMPF WHAT DOES GERMANY THINK

SCRIPTA MANENT—"written words remain"—was an old proverb of the Romans. It applies with unimpaired force to the career of Adolf Hitler.

During the past month he must often have thought of those 4,000,000 odd copies of Mein Kampf that are in the hands of German readers, with the hope that they are not just now being studied too closely.

They have brought him in close on £500,000 in royalties. He would probably be prepared to pay more to withdraw them from circulation.
For Mein Kampf is the most damning indictment of his present foreign policy. The "big stupid sheep-flock of our muttheadedly patient people," as he terms his fellow-countrymen, must wonder, as they read it, how their Fuhrer's words are to be reconciled with his deeds.

For years they have been obliged to study that wearisome work as the infallible and inspired gospel of Nazi principles. Every household was taught to repeat its choicest passages by heart; it was presented, by Government decree, to every newly-married couple.

Marshall Goering, in October 1935, declared that "We National Socialists know only one fundamental document. It is Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf.
Nothing else is official but this mighty work."

The average German, already startled to learn from the official communiqués that Nazi and Bolshevik forces are amicably co-operating in the partition of Poland, and reading with even more surprise that Marshal Voroshilov, the Red Commander-in-Chief, is coming on an official mission to Berlin, must be plunged in strange confusion when he turns, for enlightenment upon these unexpected events, to Chapter 14, which is headed "Eastward Orientation or Eastern Policy."

Its opening words are reassuring:
"There are two grounds on which lead me to make special analysis of the relations of Germany to Russia:
"1. This is perhaps the most decisive aspect of Germany's entire foreign policy;
"2. This question is the touchstone of the political capacity of the young National Socialist movement as regards clear thinking and right acting."

HITLER goes on to make a few disparaging remarks about the ability of most members of the Nazi Party to understand foreign politics, and then, with all the emphasis of spaced type, which German printers use instead of italics, he proceeds to lay down his own authoritative dogma:

"We National Socialists deliberately draw a line under the foreign political aims of pre-war times...
We stop the perpetual German march towards southern and western Europe and turn our eyes to the lands that lie to the east."

"When we speak of new territory in Europe we can, first and foremost, only think of Russia and the border States under her influence...
This colossal Empire in the east is ripe for dissolution...
From the purely military viewpoint, a Russo-German coalition, waging war against Western Europe, and probably against the whole world on that account, would be catastrophic for us."

"Russia would have to overthrow Poland before the first Russian soldier could arrive on the German front. But it is not so much a question of soldiers as of technical equipment. In such a war Russia, as a technical factor, would count for nothing to oppose to the general motorisation of the world, which,
in the next war, will make its appearance in an overwhelming and decisive form."

"Under such conditions, the struggle would assume the character of sheer slaughter. The German youth would have to shed more of its blood than it did even in the World War; for, as always, the burden of fighting would fall on us alone; and the result would be inevitable catastrophe."

"Even admitting that a miracle occurred, and that such a war did not end in the total annihilation of Germany, the final result would be that the German nation would be bled white."

TO these considerations,
Kampf*, "the following must be added:
"1. It must never be forgotten that the present rulers of Russia are bloodstained, common criminals;

"It must not be forgotten that these rulers belong to a people in which bestial cruelty is allied in an exceptional way with unbelievable mendacity, and which believes itself more than ever called to impose its gangsterish despotism upon the rest of the world... One does not form an alliance with a partner whose only aim is the destruction of his fellow-partner."

"2. The menace to which Russia once succumbed is hanging steadily over Germany. Only a bourgeois simplicity can suppose that Bolshevism is banished."

One can imagine the honest German reader turning from these categorical statements to take up his Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung and study again the long leading article, written at the order of the Propaganda Ministry, to describe how Germany and Russia are working together in perfect concord to redraft
the map of Eastern Europe.

"Gott in Himmel! What does it all mean?" he may well exclaim. "If the Fuhrer was right when he wrote Mein Kampf—and here he would shudder, for even to think such thoughts is dangerous in Germany—
"Is he wrong now? And if he is right now, why has he told us for the last six and a half years to believe every word he wrote in Mein Kampf?"

There is no answer to these questions, as the unfortunate German will find to his cost.
Hitler is floundering from one policy to another, haunted by the convictions he held in the past, and has now, for momentary advantage, abandoned, doubting, for all his supreme self-confidence, the wisdom of an opportunist policy which has led him into such glaring repudiation of his own most emphatic statements in the past.

ONLY one passage of Mein Kampf will stand, for Hitler himself has brought about its fulfilment. It is that in which he declared, as though already planning the destruction of a people with which he later on pledged himself to live in peace until 1944:

"Nobody can doubt that this world will one day be the scene of dreadful struggle for existence on the part of mankind. In the end the instinct of self-preservation alone will triumph... Before it, so-called humanitarianism as a manifestation of combined stupidity, cowardice, and ingrained conceit, will melt away like snow under the March sun."

No one yet knows where the man who has brought the present bloodshed on the world will one day lie, but those who bury him might do worse than carve those words upon his tomb.—G.W.P.

Planned Wedding As Ship Sank

THE Courageous had sunk. Lieut. Lamb, of the Fleet Air Arm, was swimming about waiting to be rescued.

A head bobbed up at his side "Charles, this may be your opportunity to get married," said a voice. It was the captain, Captain the Rev. B. C. Beale. "I hope I shall be able to perform the ceremony," he offered.

Later, Lieut. Lamb, wearing a borrowed uniform, married Miss Josephine Elgar a member of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, at Charlton All Saints, near Salisbury. She had agreed for the ceremony to be put forward from September 30.

Perfect ending would have been Captain Beale performing the ceremony. He, too, was saved, but was unable to be present.

Dear Kiddies,

Last week's competition was not at all well done. I can see that most of you did not bother to read the rules of the competition right through. You were supposed to count the number of crossings that the different lines went over.

The prize-winners this week are:

Alice Lee (aged 11), 48, Elgin Street.

S. S. Bux (aged 9), 55, Jardine Bazaar.

Joseph Felix (aged 8), 10, Lock Road, Ground Floor.

Coupons have been sent to Alice, S. S. Bux and Joseph which I want them to bring to the "Hongkong Telegraph" offices in Wyndham Street. The coupons will then be exchanged for money prizes.

Specially commended for doing the puzzle in the correct manner are the following: Paul Naidu, P. Wong, Maria Brummer, Frank Correa.

Alice Pan: The coupon was returned to this office. Since receiving your letter I have re-addressed the coupon and sent it on to you.

This week, kiddies, we have a new picture puzzle to be solved. Please read the rules very carefully before attempting the puzzle. You have to find nine words to complete the frame above, in such a way that the last letter of each word (which is given you) is also the first letter of the next word. All the answers are things seen in the picture.

The first answer is MASTS. The last S also begins the second word, which is a 4-letter one starting with S and ending with L. In that way, search the picture and find the words to fit the spacing.

Write the nine words in a neat list. Fill in the name, age and address coupon. Send your entries to Uncle Eddie, c/o "Hongkong Telegraph" before 2 p.m. on Wednesday. Prizes will be awarded in order of merit for entries which are correct, or nearest, and, in my opinion, the best written according to age.

Good luck, kiddies.

Uncle Eddie

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

HALLOWE'EN

"What's inside?" This snapshot could well fit into a Halloween series telling the story of Jack-o'-lantern.

MY snapshot calendar shows that Halloween is just around the corner. It's time for owls to hoot, witches to fly, Jack-o'-lanterns to grin, and ghosts to walk through moonlit graveyards, no doubt clanking their chains. And for camera fans, the weird-picture season will open.

Weird pictures are interesting to take at any time—but even more fun at Halloween. And with a few easy tricks, you can get effects that smack of genuine witchery.

Weird shadows are picture-material. Have a subject in which costume stand in front of a photo bulb, and picture the grotesque shadow cast on the opposite wall. Or, place the light close to the wall, to illuminate it brightly, and let your subject sit between the camera and the light. Interesting silhouettes can be made in this way. A plain light colored wall is best. Make "ghost" pictures by double exposure. Place the camera on a table, and take a short exposure of a corner of the room, including some furniture. Then, without moving the camera or winding the film, have a subject draped in a white sheet step into the corner, and open the camera for the second, shorter exposure. With correct exposure the "ghost" will be transparent—and the furniture or wallpaper will show through him. To be safe, try several shots with different exposure times.

Weird pictures are not all of Halloween. There are children's costume parties, rich in possibilities for "memory" snapshots. Take them with odd lightings and shadow effects, and they will be all the better. And Halloween preparations provide picture chances. You can make a splendid picture-story out of the Jack-o'-lantern... a series of pictures showing the purchase of the pumpkin, the carving, and the final result grinning from a front window. Indeed, at Halloween there's never a dull moment for the camera. Get yours ready now.

What One Author Thinks of Critics

A Journal Under the Terror, 1938, by E. V. Lucas. London: Cassell.

DRAMATIC critics spend a great part of their working lives telling authors what they think of them. Rarely do authors return the compliment. And generally it ceases to be a compliment, on the few occasions when they do. For, curiously enough, dramatists usually ignore critics when their plays succeed, remembering their existence only when failure has made them angry, as in the cases of Mr. Priestley and Mr. Sean O'Casey.

It is pleasant, therefore, to come upon Mr. E. V. Lucas' measured comments on the condition of London dramatic criticism. Mr. Lucas is the author of two plays seen in London in recent years—"The Bear Dances" and "Land's End." A don at King's, he is one of the most brilliantly epigrammatic, the most wittily learned writers in contemporary literature.

On the whole, his opinion of contemporary theatrical criticism is not high. Writing in his diary, after the production of "Land's End," he observes that the critics have been mainly kind, but exclaims at their dullness. Why, he asks, do they cling to the old-fashioned habit of telling the plot, which kills surprise? Why do they concentrate on what is often the least significant part of the play, instead of discussing the more vital questions of treatment, character, ideas, and style?

"Land's End," presented at the Westminster about a year ago, was an attempt to show that vigour of story and tenseness of situation are not incompatible with distinction of writing and depth of thought. It did not wholly succeed, and from Mr. Lucas' lack of enthusiasm for the London critics of to-day one might be tempted to infer that mood of dissatisfaction which has been noted as the chief stimulus to commenting on the commentators.

But this would be a mistake. By nothing is this shown so clearly as by that very matter of style to which Mr. Lucas appeals. When Mr. Lucas really dislikes a thing, his pen bites. If Mr. Lucas were seriously pained by the critics' reception of his plays, he would find a much more pungent adjective for them than dull. His opinion, expressed in "A Journal Under the Terror, 1938," may be taken as the unprejudiced verdict of a more than ordinary intelligent observer.

This telling of the plot is a problem that critics have often worried over. With the restriction of space that modern journalism entails, it is a practice much less prevalent to-day than in the past. Mr. Lucas may think it a nuisance that spoils criticism, but Mr. S. R. Littlewood, a critic of eminence, takes the view that it is rather an art that is being rapidly lost. To tell the story of a play briefly in such a way as to capture something of the effect gained by the author on the stage, Mr. Littlewood considers to be one of the most legitimate triumphs of the critic—a triumph achieved far more rarely to-day than in the past.

Yet many people will be disposed to agree with Mr. Lucas that to tell the story of a play spoils the element of surprise. The importance of surprise, however, can easily be over-estimated. It has a part in the pleasure that a modern audience takes in "Hamlet." It had no part in the pleasure that ancient audiences took in Aeschylus or Sophocles. Lessing declared that he could write a play in which the denouement would be announced at the beginning. Mr. Evelyn Williams has done more than this, for in "Night Must Fall" he has actually written such a play. Moreover, it proved to be one of his greatest successes. The true dramatist deals more in the inevitable than in the unexpected; and to him the most revealing of critics can do little harm.

JACKET DESIGN FOR "THE PRIORY"

England, Past and Present

The Priory, by Dorothy Whipple. New York: Macmillan.

ONE of the best-tested literary formulae is that an interesting house plus a varied assortment of characters equals a novel. If humour and a pleasant style are added to the left-hand side of the formula, as in the case of "The Priory," the value of the novel is so much the greater.

The interesting house is Saunby Priory. Six centuries ago it had been what its name implies—a place of monks and pilgrims, and people from the villages coming hither for help and advice. After the dissolution in the time of Henry VIII it passed into private hands, but not until 1703 when the Marwoods inherited the place, was it actually fenced in to the exclusion of the villagers. In succeeding Marwood hands it gradually shrank. Trees fell and were not removed, gables sagged, greenhouses were empty, broken, stables, and rabbits overran the land. Major Marwood had money to spend on a cricket team and on nothing else. The great West Front of the Priory remained, with the house alongside that had been built partly from the stones of the ancient structure, and Saunby was still beautiful but neglected.

One by one the residents of Saunby appear in successive chapters of the book: the Major first, at his wit's end to get decent service in his house and resolved, in desperation, to marry again for the sake of getting a suitable hostess; next, the Major's sister, who had mismanaged the house for years; the two daughters, Christine and Penelope, lovely young creatures devoted to each other; Thompson, the cricket manager, and the Marwood servants with their hopes and tragedies seething under the surface; and Anthea, who accepted the Major's arrogant invitation to become hostess-wife and quickly disappointed him by burying herself in maternal duties. Anthea, her twins, and Nurse Fye withdrew to a world of their own on the nursery floor; Christine and Penelope, one after the other, married and left home; the Major got more deeply into debt, his cricket manager had to leave under a cloud, Christine's marriage suffered disaster, and Saunby had to be put up for sale. When everything was at the darkest, Christine and Nicholas patched up their marriage, the father of Nicholas bought Saunby, and at the conclusion the Priory promises to become a scene for an interesting experiment in co-operative industry. Anthea can devote herself to her twins, the Major can have his cricket, and all apparently is going to be well.

Mrs. Whipple has given to her book variety, liveliness, understanding of character and, above all, warmth of affection in describing some place that surely is cherished in her own memory—a place like Saunby, where the West Front, with its high lace-work of windows, peeks into a blank blue sky, a place of pointed eaves and layered eadars, of crab-apple trees bearing bright with rusty fruit, and a light that glids everything as if in a mist. It is the kind of English home that in itself makes a story.

The Lord Helps Those, by Bertram B. Fowler (Vanguard Press), is a study of consumer co-operative operation in Nova Scotia. Mr. Fowler, as in a previous book, indicates his belief that the modern renaissance is to be found in the banding together of consumers to create their own economic system.

The Art of Treasure Island, by Eugen Neuhaus (University of California). First-hand impressions by a professor of art of the architecture, sculpture, landscape design, colour effects, mural decorations, illumination and other artistic aspects of the Golden Gate International Exposition. The Flying Dutchman

MICHAEL ARLEN'S first novel in five years reveals that he retains the light, sure, skilful touch, the hard wit and boyish cynicism which won him fame overnight after the World War in Great Britain and then in the United States.

His new book is "The Flying Dutchman" (Doubleday Doran), a preposterous and highly interesting novel about one Chance Winter, a conscienceless man who hates humanity and dies at last of a surfeit of conscience. Winter is a British multi-millionaire, who uses his millions in devious and plot-aiding ways. There are plots within the plot, murders, suicides, seductions and a lot of rapier sharp phrases.

"The Flying Dutchman" is called a fascinating psychological study. Well, it is fascinating. As regards the psychological part, it is an Arlen novel, written a little more on the mystery novel side than some. Arlen is never likely to write the great English novel of the day; he is never likely to want to, either. His meter is well defined, he seems to be happy within its limits and if he is a literary prisoner in it, he seems well content. Those who have liked his past work, as having the adamant flash of a gem, will not be disappointed with his new book.

U.S. Navy To Keep Country From War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—In connection with the celebration of Navy Day, President Roosevelt told the American people that it is the nation's chief policy to keep the country from war.

"The most promising way to preserve peace lies in the ability to defend our sea frontiers," the President stated.

The Navy Day saw the fleet operating under virtual war time conditions with the movements of ships kept secret.

BRITISH TRADE

First Month Of War Shows A Drop

London, Oct. 27. Special interest attaches to the Board of Trade returns for September—first month of the war.

Imports at £50,000,000 were 33 per cent. less than in September 1938, while exports at £23,000,000 were 42 per cent. less.—Reuter Special.

Closure of Mediterranean

London, Oct. 27. One of the principal reasons for the decline of imports in September was the fact that the Mediterranean was closed for the first three weeks of the war, and this also had an effect on exports.

In the last ten days, however, the shipping position has been steadily improving, and the position in regard to export licences is enormously improved. Clearances of shipping are improving.

The Board of Trade is having discussions with representatives of various industries interested in the export trade and negotiations are progressing favourably.—Reuter Special.

KING-HALL ELECTED

London, Oct. 27. Commander Stephen King-Hall (National Labour) was returned unopposed for the Ormskirk Division of Lancashire. He succeeds Sir S. T. Roskill, who has resigned.

The figures at the last poll were Sir S. T. Roskill (National Labour) 27,024 and Mr. F. V. King 12,000.

Excess Of Volunteers

London, Oct. 27. Crowds of volunteers stood in front of the central recruiting office in Whitehall this morning before it opened in order to volunteer.

According to an announcement last night, men between the ages of 22 and 35 can now volunteer for the army.

There are a large number of veterans of the last war who are joining the Labour Corps.—Reuter Bulletin.

Labour is United

London, Oct. 27. There is intense resentment in Labour circles at the anti-British propaganda circulating in neutral countries to the effect that the British workers are unwilling to fight and are very anxious for peace, said Mr. Arthur Greenwood, speaking with the authority of Mr. Clement Attlee, Leader of the Opposition, and the whole Labour Party to-day.

He said nothing could be further from the truth. The British worker hates war, but hates dictatorship more for its brutal methods and all it stands for.

The fact is, more people are prepared to serve in the fighting forces than are required at present or even likely to be required. There are hundreds of thousands who prefer to be in the trenches, on the sea or in the air, but must stand for productive purposes behind the men with guns, on ships or in aeroplanes.

Among the workers of Britain, there is a grim and unalterable determination to bring to an end forever the system of organised gangsterism which has kept Europe in a state of turmoil in recent years, destroyed the freedom of Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and is threatening the liberty of other nations.

British Labour has accepted the challenge thrown down by Hitler.

Through outside the Government, the Party has used every endeavour to strengthen the Government in its declared intention of finally crushing Hitlerism.

In its attitude, British Labour was supported by the Labour movements of the Dominions.

The rank and file of the workers in Britain are anxious for service, willing to face sacrifice, and have no reluctance to play their part.

All they can do to bring the war to an early and successful conclusion they will do. For the peoples of the neutral countries to believe for one moment that there is any weakness on the part of the workers of Britain would be folly.

The freedom they won they will keep, in order to save the freedom and rights of workers everywhere.—Reuter.

75 to 80 Divisions Now In The Rhineland All Ready for Offensive

GERMANS TO START ATTACK SHORTLY

Paris, Oct. 27. The military correspondent of Le Petit Parisien reports that everything happening on the enemy's side indicates that a general offensive is about to be launched, the German Army having 75 to 80 divisions concentrated in the Rhineland.

Shock troops are occupying their positions and anti-tank units are assembled near the German positions, and the airfield is full of pursuit planes and bombers.

The troops occupying the front lines are conducting unceasing activity, reconnoitring the terrain morning and afternoon and sometimes in the evening by specialised units.

A clear impression is gained that everything is on the way and that Hitler, when he has chosen the day and hour, will only have to press a button to start the German armies marching.—United Press.

Through Neutral States

London, Oct. 27. French military observers are impressed by reports from well-informed foreign sources that Germany has concentrated 32 divisions around Strasbourg, 18 miles from the Dutch frontier, 12 miles from the Swiss frontier, and nine between Lake Constance and the junction of the Italian and Swiss frontiers.

Critics draw attention to the latter concentration as suggesting that if German decides to invade Switzerland with a view to outflanking the Maginot Line through the Jura mountains, she will simultaneously launch an offensive in the upper Rhine Valley through eastern Switzerland.

The Allied High Command in no way rejects the possibility of a German invasion of Holland to gain aircraft and submarine bases.—Reuter.

Fair Weather Spell

Paris, Oct. 27. Although there was a brief spell of fine weather to-day, bad weather conditions in the past few days have prevented large scale operations on the Western Front. Parts of the Rhine which have been flooded for some time have risen another 22 inches.

Activity last night was confined to reconnaissance and isolated operations.

In Anticipation

Paris, Oct. 27. The French Army contains the Lafayette Escadrille squadron which has already seen action in four aerial combats and brought down five Messerschmidt planes. They lost one sergeant pilot.

The Escadrille, which is at present composed exclusively of French pilots, has all the troops insignia of the American World War Escadrille on all its planes. All the pilots wear Indian head insignia with inverted German swastika, which is the American-Indian good luck token in head-dress.

The Squadron Leaders Told

"We are keeping alive the memory and honour of the American Volunteer Escadrille until new volunteers are ready to take over," United Press.

Her aunt, Miss Rosa Blanche Perez Rubio, a member of an old aristocratic Spanish family in Manila, arrived by clipper on Wednesday to attend the ceremony.

The honeymoon is to be spent at Repulse Bay, Mrs. D'Oyly chose a going away dress of duck-egg blue with wine coloured accents.

RADIO APPEAL

Madame Chiang Speaks To American Women

Chungking, Oct. 27. Madame Chiang Kai-shek, in a radio message to the New York Herald Tribune's Forum of American Women, deplored the inaction of the Democracies which had enabled Japan to attempt to conquer China, but expressed her gratitude that "From the United States came the first ray of hope and encouragement that the aggressor might be called to account."

"Eight years ago, without justification, without a declaration of war, the Japanese invaded Manchuria and annexed it. They tore up treaties and used the International Law Codes to light the fires of barbarism, and defied the Democracies with threats and brandished weapons."

"The Democracies did nothing. Nor did we, at that time, because we were counselled to have an abiding faith in the League of Nations and the infirmity of treaties."

"How vain our faith and inaction proved to be you have reason to know, but others in the world did not."

"Those who dreamed of power at any price quickly took advantage of Democratic inertia. Their vast armies of aggression were soon ruthlessly crushing out of existence the lives and liberties of many fine peoples in various parts of the world."

"Japan also eagerly seized upon the new encouragement. The tramp of her troops, the crushing of her bombs were soon heard in China Proper, while double treachery was given free rein."—United Press.

BELGIUM WILL FIGHT IF SHE IS ATTACKED

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (UP).—King Leopold in a broadcast from Brussels to the "Herald-Tribune Forum," which was relayed throughout the country, emphasised Belgium's determination to maintain neutrality. "Peace for the Belgians is a matter of life and death," he said. "We know our rights and duties and await the future steadfastly and with a clear conscience. We are prepared to exert our entire strength to uphold our independence."

King Leopold pointed out that her three great neighbours in 1937, and also at the beginning of the present war, assured Belgium that they would not violate her frontiers.

"Twenty-five years ago the Belgian Army, commanded by my father, after a hard struggle arrested a cruel invasion," he said. "If we are attacked—and pray God this will not happen in violation of solemn and definite undertakings—we will not hesitate to fight with the same conviction but with forces 10 times stronger."

China-Japan

DESIRE FOR PEACE IN BOTH COUNTRIES

Shanghai, Oct. 27. Possibilities of an end to the China war were discussed by Vice-Admiral Naokuni Nomura, outgoing Chief Resident Naval Officer at Shanghai, at a press conference to-day, when he said farewell to pressmen on the occasion of his departure to Tokyo and introduced his successor, Rear-Admiral Seichi Iwamura.

There was a strong desire for peace in China, he said, but no measures were being taken at present to conclude peace with the Chungking regime.

Since the conflict arose from a Japanese desire to establish and maintain peace in East Asia, it was only natural that Japan should wish for peace to be established in this part of the world.

As long as Chungking pursued an anti-Japanese policy, there would be no relaxation of Japanese measures to attain her original objectives.

Should the Chungking Government genuinely desire to seek terms with Japan, he did not think that the anti-Communist Powers would be in a position to refuse to accept them.

If Chungking made acceptable pledges for the future, the Japanese Government would not make exorbitant demands.

Asked whether the new Central Government would be asked to join the anti-Communist Powers, Admiral Nomura replied that Wang Chung-wei had already made it clear that he was against Communism.—Reuter.

Chungking's Responsibility

Shanghai, Oct. 27. Referring to the talks between Mr. Joseph Grey and Admiral Nomura in Tokyo, Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, Commander of the Japanese Navy in China, announced at a Press conference to-day that the Japanese attitude towards China was considering the relaxing of trade restrictions, so far as they do not interfere with Japanese military operations, but he declined to comment in connection with this talk.

Admiral Oikawa said that the road to negotiation of peace with Chungking was not closed if China abandons her anti-Japanese policy and seeks Japanese terms. He avoided stating specifically whether Japan will reverse her policy not to deal with Chiang Kai-shek, but he said specifically that no measures were being taken to conclude peace with Chungking and that Chiang Kai-shek must bear the responsibility for the Sino-Japanese war.

Wang's Position

Questioned whether Japan will ask the new Central Government to join the anti-Communist Pact, Admiral Oikawa said he was not qualified to reply, but he pointed out that Mr. Wang Chung-wei has repeatedly announced opposition to Communism.

Asked whether this reply implied confirmation that Mr. Wang Chung-wei was definitely heading a new regime, Admiral Oikawa said he was not at liberty to reveal the future status of China.

Admiral Oikawa maintained that Japan adopted a non-aggravating attitude towards Russia and he was unable to confirm Japanese reports that a Soviet pilot participated in the Hankow bombings. Therefore, he did not count on this in view of Japan's policy "not to create ill feeling."

A correspondent asked if Admiral Oikawa had the opportunity to go to Chungking what would be the first three things he would say to Chiang Kai-shek towards settlement of the Sino-Japanese war.

Admiral Oikawa replied, "I will tell him, first, he caused unprecedented misery for his own people and brought hardships on his country; second, it is about time you admit you are a responsible man and assume responsibility for the present conflict."

Troop Withdrawals

Clarifying Japanese policy in dealing with Chiang Kai-shek, Admiral Oikawa said, "The sentiment of the Japanese people against Chiang Kai-shek is strong and there is a strong determination not to deal with Chiang Kai-shek."

He avoided stating flatly that Japan will never deal with Chiang.

Asked whether Japan would withdraw all her troops from China if Chungking abandoned the anti-Japanese policy and offered guarantees for the future, Admiral Oikawa replied that in the first place it was questionable whether Japan would be able to trust China's guarantee.

Thereafter he evaded the question whether the troops will be withdrawn even if adequate guarantees are provided.

After lengthy deliberation he said that the question of troop withdrawal would be fairly settled in any peace agreement.—United Press.

State Not Supreme

Vatican City, Oct. 27. The Encyclical, issued and dated from Castel Gandolfo for the first time in history, outlines the Pope's religious programme and pleads for the return of a good purpose to obtain world peace.

The Encyclical is more of a pastoral than a political nature but it says that "to consider the State as something ultimate, and subordinating everything else to it, cannot fail to harm the true and lasting prosperity of nations."

It states that the Pope was awaiting a more propitious moment to take a complete doctrinal stand on all present problems.—Reuter.

Pope Denounces Growth Of State's Supremacy

Rome, Oct. 27. His Holiness the Pope to-day issued a long pastoral encyclical. It was devoted mainly to religious subjects, but had a brief reference to the international situation.

It stated that the Pope was awaiting a more propitious moment to take a complete doctrinal stand on all present problems.—Reuter.

Disrespect for Pledged Word

Rome, Oct. 27. The eagerly-awaited Encyclical declares that the world has been brought to the present horrible abyss by disrespect for the pledged word, spread of the doctrine of force, and absence of mutual confidence among nations.

His Holiness roundly condemns State autonomy, which is contrary to the principle of natural reason and Christian conscience. The State may claim to possess powers but never souls.

Pleading for avoidance of past mistakes when the war ceases, the Encyclical says that the new order must rest on natural law and divine revelation. Since human expedients have miserably failed, salvation can come from the Church alone.—Reuter.

LEE-GARCIA BOUT IN MANILA

Bewildering Situation of World Middleweight Boxing Championship

(By "Tinker")

MANILA sportsmen are all agog over the preparations by Jesse Cortes to promote a middle-weight bout in Manila between Coforino Garcia and Glenn Lee, outstanding contender for the world middleweight title, which, as some contend, Garcia holds. The match has been fixed for December 16 at the Rizal Memorial Football Stadium.

I have purposely refrained from referring to the fight as a "championship bout" because there appear to be three voices in the matter. First and, perhaps foremost, is that of the National Boxing Association of America, which controls the boxing in nearly all the States. They refuse recognition of the Garcia-Lee fight as for the title, as they do not hold Garcia to be champion. Their choice is Al Hostak, and they are willing to consider a bout between Garcia and Hostak as for the title.

SECOND in the matter is the world-famed promoter, Mike Jacobs, who holds a contract with Garcia, and who, therefore, has sole right to arrange his championship fights. Third is Cortes, who, in advertising the fight as for the championship of the world, indicates that he has arrived at some arrangement with Jacobs.

What it all boils down to, then, is that the N.B.A. of America and the Jacobs-Cortes combination do not see eye-to-eye.

TRACING THE TITLE
Let us try and trace the present whereabouts of the world middleweight crown since it was relinquished by the world recognized champion, Freddie Steele. The title has followed a tortuous path; it has jumped the tracks at times, and, at others, has popped up in unexpected quarters.

Freddie Steele, in 1937, was the champion acknowledged on both sides of the Atlantic. Fred Apostoli was recognized as outstanding challenger, but suddenly Steele was matched with Hostak, and in losing lost his title. And though the N.B.A. agreed to defend the title against any N.B.A. selection.

Thus there were two champions, and both in one country! Solly Krieger came along and sent Hostak to the hospital after inflicting away the title. Glenn Lee stepped in and gave Krieger a severe beating, and was followed by Hostak, who took his revenge. Now, like in that famous game with a pea and three shells, where was the world title?—With Hostak, of course. You may not have been able to follow it, but the N.B.A. had their eyes on it all the time, and that is where it is now.

Though the system may be a little complicated, there does not seem any doubt that, logically, the title is somewhere between Lee and Hostak, for both of them beat Krieger, who originally took it from Steele.

GARCIA'S CLAIM
GARCIA'S claim to world fame is more direct, having beaten Fred Apostoli on a technical knock-out a little while ago, but the problem, however, is how did Apostoli first become possessed of the crown? It was a magnanimous gesture on the part of the N.Y.S.A.C. to promote

Hockey Secretaries Meeting On Monday

The meeting of Hockey Club secretaries on Monday to complete fixtures for the Hongkong Hockey Association Tournament will be held at St. Andrew's Church Hall at 6 p.m.

SIXTO ESCOBAR MAY RELINQUISH TITLE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP).—The National Boxing Association of America have announced that they will recognize George Pace, of Cleveland, as world bantamweight champion on November 2, in the event of Sixto Escobar, the present champion, relinquishing his title.

It is also announced that Pace has agreed to defend the title against any N.B.A. selection.

Apostoli to champion without his having to fight for the honour. But was it justified?

And now we are all set for the fight.

A NATIONAL HERO
GARCIA is a national hero in the Philippines. He is the first member of his race to gain recognition as world champion since Pancho Villa, even though it is only partial recognition.

He has fought Glenn Lee twice before, winning once and losing once, and this, their third meeting, as a decider of the "series", adds enormously to its attraction.

Lee has beaten Krieger, and has fought three with Apostoli. With the latter he broke even, having lost, he left for Manila on Thursday. Garcia is due to sail on Monday with his wife.

The second great attraction in the ring will be Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, who has agreed to act as referee.

END OF BOUT — For the eighth time since Joe Louis won his heavyweight boxing title two years ago, he successfully defended it against gallant Bob Pastor, in Detroit. Here is the fight's end, after Louis knocked Pastor in 11th round. Hennessy is referee.

Captive Nazis Want To Enter Soccer Pools

German prisoners of war in Britain want to compete in the football pools.

The prison camps have wireless sets and the men are allowed to listen-in to B.B.C. programmes and the news bulletins.

No attempt is made to keep any news from them.

A number of captured officers who were listening to a news bulletin were amazed when the announcer spent several minutes reading the football results.

The restart of football had made them wonder if they ever would "understand the English."

Afterwards they made a request that they should be permitted to take part in the football pools competitions.

Whether the authorities will give permission, and whether the pools promoters will send them coupons, are matters not yet settled.

"Y" Juniors Score Four Against St. Andrew's Club

St. Andrew's Hockey Club made their second appearance this season yesterday when they were beaten by Y.M.C.A. Juniors by four clear goals in a scrappy encounter at King's Park.

Saints had many opportunities for scoring but poor finishing in and near the circle nullified their approach methods. In defence they worked hard, particularly in the intermediate line, where Tom Tomlinson and Stevenson performed splendidly against a fast moving "Y" attack.

Rev. Higgs was seen to advantage at inside-right, where clever stick-work and nice openings featured his display, but Wong at centre-forward was slow, due no doubt to the fact that he twisted an ankle early on. Davies and Carroll were an effective left-wing pair, although the latter was starved for a greater portion of the game.

"Y" were served by a well-balanced combination but were lucky on at least two occasions not to find themselves in arrears. Cleggitt was not very safe between the sticks, but Auster, at left-back, was always at hand to relieve when danger threatened.

"Y's" half-back line was their best department and Coombe, at centre-half, rounded off a fine individual performance with a splendid goal, the best seen for a long time on the C.F.A. ground. Smith and Broch, the wing-halves, were always hard working, with the former more in the eye.

"Y's" wingers were very poor and neither Macey nor Beavan, the right and left-wingers, really centred effectively. The former was invariably too slow, while Beavan was never at home on the left-wing. In Dormer, Stone and Rose, however, "Y" had a formidable inside-trio Stone netting two good goals, while Rose flicked in the third.

Rugby Football

Changes Made In Club And Army Fifteens For This Afternoon's Match

(By "Fly-half")

ON THE Club ground at Happy Valley this afternoon two games of rugby will be played. The first one at 3.15 p.m. will be contested by Navy "A" and Club "A" and the second at 4.30 p.m. between the Army and Club.

BOTH Army and Club show changes from the teams which met last week-end. Army are still experimenting and much attention will be paid to the play of Smith, who performed with credit last Saturday on the Army wing in opposition to Bosanquet. This week he is given the scrum-half berth, a position which should suit him, provided he can pass quickly and accurately.

Lana, last week's scrum-half, goes to full back, where he should feel comfortable, possessing as he does a safe pair of hands and a strong accurate kick, acquired from his previous soccer training.

Lomax, who sustained a nasty gash under his eye while playing at full-back, will be out of the game for several weeks.

March, presumably on his performance against the Police last Tuesday, when he held Taylor. Police lefty wing three, has been given Smith's place on the wing and should not find himself outshone by Bosanquet this afternoon.

Army make only one change in the pack; Burrell displaces Foley. The change should strengthen the forwards.

USING THE POLICE

CLUB have made some changes and have taken advantage of the fact that Police are not playing to use some Police players who are Club members.

Salter, just recovered from an injury, comes in place of Dunnett, who injured his shoulder in last week's encounter. B. C. Fay, the Police stand-off half, displaces Charter at right centre. Peera, who was unable to play last Saturday, comes into the pack in place of Wanklyn.

None of the changes detract from the Club's powers, whilst Salter's inclusion should greatly increase Club's chances in the set scrums.

Another close encounter may be reckoned on, with an Army win depending not a little on Smith's combination with Douglas, and Lang's ability to deal with any Club kick ahead.

CURTAIN RAISER

THE curtain-raiser will be a closer game than a week in view of the fact that Club have strengthened their "A" team by the inclusion of Police members in H.W.E. Henth, D. A. Seale, E. C. Luscombe and G. S. Wilson.

Navy's team is uncertain, but may be relied on to be above the average of an "A" XV.

The teams for this afternoon are:

Club

First—F. M. Thompson; D. J. Bosanquet; B. C. Fay; H. D. Bidwell; D. H. Stewart; F. Cleggitt; R. Henderson; E. A. Somers; R. W. Salter; A. F. Wainwright; W. E. Peera; C. F. Needham; W. B. Richardson; A. J. G. Taylor; G. H. Godfrey.

A team—M. G. Carruthers; L. Lammer; C. S. Wilson; G. D. Day; H. Vaz; Leuzen (Captain); J. Hutchinson; E. C. Luscombe; P. R. Wanklyn; O. A. Seale; R. W. Smith; J. de C. Hinchcliffe; J. H. Thornhill; M. S. Banner; R. G. Castleton; H. W. E. Henth.

Army

Lang; March; Doe; Waite and Richards; Douglas and Smith; Berry; Hewitt; Evans.

Affiliation Fee For Umpires

SIGNALS BEAT R. ENGINEERS

Excellent Innings By Shipp And Whatman

Royal Engineers sustained their first defeat at Cricket in eight matches on Thursday at Sookunpoo when, holding a depleted team, they were beaten by Royal Corps of Signals by seven wickets.

Sappers, who batted first lost their early wickets disastrously, but L/Cpl. Shipp reached the boundary 11 times in his undefeated knock of 55, and L/Cpl. Waite and Capt. Freeman were their only other successful bats scoring 20 and 25 respectively. Murphy was Signals' best bowler, taking six for 57.

Signals lost their opening batsmen quickly, but Capt. A. B. Whatman and L/Cpl. Murphy prevented a collapse, the former losing his wicket three runs short of the Sappers' total, his contribution being a bright and enterprising 60 which included 11 boundaries. Murphy, who was undefeated at the close, made the winning stroke shortly afterwards with L/Cpl. Tomlinson holding the fort at the other end.

Press Debates India

Portinent Questions Are Asked

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Most of the newspapers to-day had India as the subject of their first leading articles.

The "Times" says that the regret over the decision of the Indian Congress Party to withdraw from the provincial governments is shared by all responsible elements in this country.

Sir Samuel Hoare, says the Journal did well to point out in his House of Commons statement that while divisions in India exist, His Majesty's Government cannot forget their promises to the Indian minorities.

Pertinent Question

In any case it was hoped that the Congress Party would not allow pique, pride or suspicion to prevent them from revising their examination of the Viceroy's offer.

The "Daily Telegraph" says the pertinent question the dissenters are asking (as Gandhi asked) is what the declaration is worth if the Allies fall.

Those who complain of British imperialism," declares the paper, "might profitably reflect on its exchange for Hitlerism."

Opinion among Opposition newspapers is divided.

The "Daily Herald" says the Congress leaders want to understand the meaning of our aims when we talk of the independence of India.

What Does It Really Mean? That places squarely before us the question of what we mean when we talk of fighting for freedom. By our attitude India will judge our sincerity when we speak of fighting for the freedom of all nations.

While the Liberal "News Chronicle" asks why Dominion Status for India must wait, the Liberal "Manchester Guardian" regards Sir Samuel Hoare's statement as conciliatory and sincere, and an advance on the Viceroy's statement.

The "Guardian" suggests that the Congress leaders, before taking the serious step of resignation, might consider their decision in view of Sir Samuel Hoare's statement.

FINLAND ADAMANT

Will Not Sacrifice Its Freedom

HELSINKI, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The Finnish Foreign Minister declared that Finland was not prepared to sacrifice anything essential to her freedom and existence.

Finland's vast preparations, he said, do not threaten anybody, but were undertaken to guard her neutrality.

It would be wrong to assume that Russo-Finnish relations could not be improved. There were some points on which they could not yield.

It is believed that the negotiations with Russia have gone forward a little and the Finnish delegation may return to Moscow on Sunday.

Finnish Counter-Proposals

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—The Finnish Government is preparing fresh counter-proposals which its delegates will take to Moscow on Monday, according to the "Aften Bladet," which declares that these represent the furthest point that Finland can go, and they will be her "last word."

Poppy Day Appeal

Street Sales In Colony On November 10

The Hongkong and China Branch of the British Legion announces that street sales of poppies this year in connection with the Poppy Day Fund will be held on November 10 instead of November 11. This will afford the public a convenient opportunity of contributing, Armistice Day being a holiday.

Several days ago it was announced in London that all schemes previously adopted for the British Legion Fund had been devoted to the assistance of participants in the last war, but that now these schemes would be for those in any war, including the present.

Since the Poppy Day Fund was inaugurated in 1921 more than £7,500,000 has been collected and the amount raised last year was £578,000. It is hoped that, considering the added burden of the present conflict, the Colony's contribution will be generous.

The King has sent a donation of £100 to the Poppy Day Fund Appeal in London and the Governor of Hongkong has opened the Colony's contributions with a donation of $100.

In the absence of any formal ceremony at the Consulate this year wreaths may be laid privately and the public is advised that Flanders Poppies will be on sale through the British Legion for those desiring to lay poppy wreaths.

Contributions to date are as follow:

Sir Geoffrey Northcote	£100
Hon. Mr. P. B. Bagg	10
Mr. E. N. Ryan	10
Mr. P. S. S. S. S. S.	10

Further donations will be gratefully received by Mr. F. G. Maund, Secretary, Earl Hall's Fund, Hongkong and Shanghai Bank Building. Cheques should be made payable to "Thompson & Co." and crossed "Poppy Day Fund."

"She's charming, delightful, but I can't stand those painted lips. They give her a harsh look. People stare at her. If she would only stop painting!"

"Miracle of miracles! Why didn't she use Tangee before? Now she's her natural, lovely self. Her lips are smooth and soft—so alluring. If women only knew how men hate painted lips!"

What makes Tangee so different, you'll ask? Why does it end that painted look? Because Tangee isn't paint—can't paint. Instead it changes color from orange to the pink to a youthful blush rose on your lips. And its cream base keeps lips soft and appealing.

On occasion, you may prefer a more vivid color, then use Tangee Theatrical. Use Tangee Rouge and Face Powder, too, for perfect color harmony. Ask for Tangee beauty aids today—sold in all good stores.

Hot Orange Desserts

ORANGES are appreciated by everybody, so try the following recipes for puddings, they are most nourishing.

Orange Souffles

6 oranges.
1 Wine glass of port—if desired.
2 oz butter.
1½ oz flour.
1½ oz sugar.
3 eggs.

Cut a slice off the tops of the oranges and scoop out the pulp without breaking the skins. Rub pulp through a sieve and add wine. Melt the butter in a pan, add flour, stir in the orange pulp, and boil until thick, stirring constantly.

Remove from the fire, let mixture cool, add sugar then the egg yolks one at a time. Now stir in the stiffly whisked egg whites.

Fill orange cases three-quarters full with the mixture, place on a baking sheet, and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Serve immediately.

Orange Pancakes

3 oz self-raising flour.

1 egg.

½ pint milk.

Pinch of salt and sugar.

1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Mix flour, salt, sugar, and orange rind, make a well in the centre and gradually beat in the egg and milk until a smooth batter is obtained.

Heat a little lard in a small frying or pancake pan, pour in a very little butter—allowing it to run all over the pan—cook on one side then turn.

Roll up and keep hot until required.

So popular is the fur jacket this season that fashion refuses to part with it! The newest of the fur models for autumn wear is this "cape bolero" of silver fox. A symphony in brevity, it hardly reaches the waist, is collarless, has "above the elbow" cape sleeves. It is ideal to wear throughout these coolish autumn days.

SCOTTISH RECIPES

SCOTTISH recipes are usually interesting. Two of the following recipes require buttermilk.

TATTIE RABBIT.—Required: 2oz. grated cheese, 1 egg, 1 teaspoonful of milk, mashed potatoes, hot buttered toast.

Warm the milk in a pan, add the grated cheese and well-beaten egg. When hot and the cheese has melted, add gradually the mashed potatoes until the consistency of thick cream is reached, beating all the time with a horn spoon. Season with salt and pepper. Serve on hot buttered toast.

BARLEY MEAL SCONES.—Required: 2½b barley meal, ¾ teaspoonful soda, ¾ teaspoonful cream of tartar, ½ teaspoonful salt, buttermilk.

Mix the ingredients, add buttermilk to form a soft dough. Sprinkle paste board with meal and roll the dough to ¼ in. thick. Cut in three, and bake on a griddle or iron pan, not too hot.

SHORT CUTS

Cookie dough for rolled or sliced cookies may be kept in the refrigerator if well wrapped in waxed paper and may be cooked with different flavourings a portion at a time.

When potato chips, crackers and flake cereals become limp in damp weather, a few minutes in the oven will restore their original crispness.

Left-over cereals may be combined with cooked tomatoes or left-over creamed vegetables, covered with grated cheese and baked.

To remove cream stains, wash in cold water, then in warm water and soap.

A cut lemon will keep fresh for some time if placed cut side down in a cup. Cover cup and store in refrigerator.

EUROPE AT WAR

COMMUNIST REICH

Probable Step to Save Nazi Party

London, Oct. 27. The possible reorientation of Hitler's internal policy in the direction of Communism as a means of extricating Nazi leaders from recently acquired embarrassments, is canvassed by students of politics in countries bordering Germany and by The Times.

There is evidence from Germany that such a move is meeting with some encouragement in the Nazi Party, says a correspondent. Hitler himself, as is shown in "Mein Kampf," never had a liking for the Junker landowners or large-scale capitalists, and his treatment of the industrialists shows that they are expected to be as docile as the rest of the German public.

The developments of the last three years have exploded the theory so strongly encouraged by Russian Communist propaganda that Nazism was merely the tool of the great capitalist interests. German financiers, industrialists and merchants are in the grip of the Party machine and have no means of resistance.

Apart from the desire to weaken elements which are often critical and might turn hostile, the Nazi Party and its leader may see in a movement to the left a possible way of circumventing future difficulties; it might make the Russo-German pact a more genuine affair than it is now and it would certainly help the Fuehrer to revive German morale by representing the Party as defenders of the German masses against the predatory capitalists of the west.—Reuter.

LATE NEWS

City Of Flint

MOSCOW, Oct. 27 (UP).—It has been learned from reliable sources in Murnansk that a German crew boarded the City of Flint yesterday.

This report supports the belief that the ship is now sailing outside Soviet waters, presumably conveyed by German submarines.

Tungsten For U.S.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP).—In the first award under the program to accumulate $100,000,000 worth of strategic war materials, The Treasury to-day awarded $427,140 contract for tungsten ore to the Wah Chang Trading Company of New York.

Under the contract the Company will deliver to the Army Depot at Columbus, Ohio, 425 short tons of ore, which will be obtained from Hongkong, Burma and Indo-China.

Referendum Rejected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (Reuter).—Before taking up Sen. Clarke's proposal for a final clear-cut vote on the Emergency Issue, the Senate rejected an amendment by Senator LaFollette requiring a referendum before the country could go to war.

SOVIET OFFERS A NEW PACT

Helsinki, Oct. 27. The Soviet has proposed a modified form of military pact with Finland, according to one report.

This is considered compatible with Finland's attitude of strict neutrality and excludes the possibility of Finland permitting aggression against Russia through Finland.

It is claimed that the Soviet affirmed her intention to respect the "neutral solidarity" of the Nordic bloc, and assured Finland that none of Russia's proposals and aims will impair Finnish independence.

Many who evacuated their homes near the Soviet frontier are now reported to be returning. Most of the elementary schools have reopened, except in Helsinki.—Reuter.

One Warship Out Only

London, Oct. 27.

With reference to the German plans for blocking British naval routes here are not wholly convinced that there are more raiders abroad than the Deutschland.

Some emphasize that the Emden is in no way equipped for long distance raiding. They say that there is no convincing evidence that any other battleship or cruiser has yet joined the Deutschland, whose speed of 20 knots is inferior to that of modern cruisers.

It is generally believed that the Deutschland escaped by the Norwegian coast and the Arctic Circle when the German fleet was sighted and chased on October 8. The return will not be so easy, they say.—Reuter.
